

QUALITY POLICY AND OBJECTIVES STATEMENT

It is the objective of Conductix-Wampfler Limited to operate a profitable Company which satisfies its customers with both the products and services it provides.

The Company is committed to its Quality Management System Certification to ISO 9001:2008. The Company will meet these objectives by provision of adequate resources and a process of continual improvement in all areas of the business, wherever possible, brought about by a programme of periodic review and assessment followed by effective action.

This Quality Policy and Objectives statement will be reviewed periodically to ensure it remains appropriate.

It is important that all members of staff are aware of this Policy and, in order to ensure this, it is displayed throughout the Company premises and included in the Staff Handbook.
